The Populists of Ohio were not sidetracked on any single issue nor led off on any fusion branch. The following is the portion of their State platform relating to national issues:

 We hereby ratify and reaffirm the principles of the Omaha platform. 2. We favor Coxey's non-interest bond and good roads bills.

3. We are in favor of the coinage out of paper of as many dollars or units as will be sufficient to conduct the busi-ness of the country on a cash basis, and we demand that said money be a full legal tender.

4. We are in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver into dollars or units at the present legal ratio without any regard whatever as to what other nations may do.

We demand the nationalization of all public monopolies. 6. We denounce as treason to the American people the issue of interest-hearing bonds, at any time, either in war or in peace.

7. We denounce as treason to the constitution of the United States the sub-version of the rights of trial by jury as lately practiced in the courts in the case of E. V. Debs. 8. We are in favor of a law that will

9. We are in favor of the immediate abolishment of the national banking 10. Congress should pass the per diem service pension act demanded by the Grand Army of the Republic, and congress should provide for the payment to the Union soldiers of the war of 1861 to 1865 such sum as will make their pay equal to coin, with interest thereon. For Good Government.

The Omaha fight is one for good government. All the best citizens of Omaha united in asking for the appointment of Paul Vandervoort in the interest of order and good government. The dispatches about it being an A. P. A. fight are an effort of the Jew. Rosewater, to cast discredit upon the new police board. Rosewater has dominated the city of Omaha with high hand for years, and is naturally mad at his defeat. The Associated Press correspondent being in the office of Rosewater's paper, he takes advantage of this opportunity to publish a big cock and bull story of A. P. A. riots and threats of bloodshed.
